CHRISTIAN HAS 400 ENROLLED

Seventieth College Year Begins On Next Monday Morning.

CHANGES IN FACULTY
Several University of Missouri Graduates to Join Teaching Staff.

With an enrollment of more than 400, Christian College will begin its seventieth year next Monday. The opening convocation will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The exercises will be open to the public.

Members of the faculty will meet student groups at St. Louis, Kansas City and at Parsons, Kansas. Special cars will bring students from Kansas City and St. Louis. Registration will continue through Thursday and Friday. Registrants are from seventeen states. The states outside of Missouri having the largest number of students are Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Arkansas, Iowa and Texas.

All space in the main and annex dormitories was taken by August 1. The new residence hall now under construction has been delayed by lack of steel. It is hoped to complete this building by midyear, and students are now registered for more than half its capacity. Besides accommodating 110 more students this building will be the home of the school of home economics.

Among the faculty changes are the following: Mrs. Rose L. Lisenby, head of the English department for the last three years, will be the college dean. She will have two assistants in English, and will give a large part of her time to administrative duties. Mrs. Lisenby holds the degrees of Ph. B. and A. M. from Chicago University.

Robert C. Abram, B. S. from the University of Missouri and candidate for the Ph. D. degree, will have courses in Education and Sociology. He will teach full time.

Miss M. Lee Walker, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and who has had two years of graduate study at Columbia University, is the new head of the department of Latin. Miss Walker has had thirteen years of successful teaching experience. She will also have administrative duties as assistant to the dean.

Miss Margaret F. Steele, B. A. from Mount Holyoke College and a graduate student of the University of Chicago for two years, is the new head of the department of mathematics.

Miss Louise G. du Pre, graduate of Ecole Normale and College de Nîmes and candidate for the Ph. D. degree at Johns Hopkins University, is the new head of the department of romance languages.

Miss Ruth Horning from the Southern Missouri Teachers' College, will have charge of all courses in the school of commerce.

Mrs. Anna Froman will have charge of the vocal department. Mrs. Froman is a pupil of John S. Hall, Boston; William Castle, Chicago and Fidele Koenig, Paris France.

Mrs. Almer Jones, B. S. from the University of Missouri, and who was in charge last year of the Home Economics department of the Excelsior Springs High School, will be the new head of the School of Home Economics.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH WOMEN MET
Mrs. S. D. Crozier of E. C. Outlines Plans for a Council.

About eighty persons attended the monthly Women's Board of Missions and Ladies' Aid Society luncheon in the basement of the Christian Church yesterday. Mrs. S. D. Crozier, of the Independence Boulevard Church of Kansas City, of which Burris Jenkins is pastor, was present to explain the details of a plan for the organization of a council.

The purpose of this council, as explained by Mrs. Crozier, is to unify the work of the organizations of the church and to give them a real head. Its slogan is "the entire womanhood of the church behind the work of the church."

"Some in the church are interested in foreign missions," said Mrs. Crozier. "Some do not care for the poor little children in India and China, but do care for the ragged children in their own town; some think their church duties are fulfilled if they sew for the poor people of the church. The council plan gives them a chance to be behind the entire work and to take part in the special phase they are interested in as well."

FARM LABOR IN SMALL DEMAND
Few Workmen Will Be Used Because of Employment Cost.

A big demand for more farm labor this fall is not probable, according to A. J. Meyer of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation here. Mr. Meyer says that the high prices required to secure laborers will make the farmers try to avoid employing more help than is absolutely necessary to harvest the crops. He points out that the one possibility of labor shortage on the farms is that the late fall may confine the harvesting period to less time than usual. At present, the farm labor situation is satisfactory in Boone County and in general throughout the state.

Carpenters' and Bricklayers' Unions Volunteer Aid to Boys.

EVERYONE TO WORK

Plans Will Be Completed at Meeting of Council.

The Carpenters' Union volunteered last night to do the carpenter work on the house of the boy scouts, free of charge, according to C. W. Loomis, president of the Carpenters' Union. The Bricklayers' Union also volunteered to do all of the brick work.

Further plans for the immediate building of the boy scouts' home will be taken up as soon as O. B. Johnson, scoutmaster, returns from Chicago, and calls a meeting of the Scout Council.

C. W. Loomis, suggests that the material for the building be put on the grounds and then an old-fashioned house raising be called, everybody out to help, lunch on the grounds, make it one big day.

A citizen of Columbia speaking of the proposed building for the Boy Scouts said this morning:

"It is one of the finest things that could happen for the boys of Columbia. I would rather go out in the woods and search for my boy when I wanted him, than to be sure that I could go up town in the pool halls and find him just the minute that I wanted him."

CHURCHES BEGIN NEW WORK

Educational and Evangelistic Campaigns Started.

An extensive campaign in Mexico along educational and evangelistic lines is to be undertaken by Bishop W. P. Thirkield of the Methodist Episcopal Church now that that country is being stabilized under the Huerta administration.

At the same time, the Methodist Episcopal Church is sending Bishop Blake, of Chicago, to Europe to co-operate with the church representatives there in abating distressing conditions growing out of the war. He will give attention to the destitute of France, Italy, Rumania, Yugoslavia and French North Africa. It is the intention of Bishop Blake to build orphanages, hospitals, sanatoria and homes, the money for this purpose having already been raised for work along humane lines in the devastated countries of Europe.

Along the line of the extension of American educational development on the soil of Great Britain, comes the further word that the American Presbyterian Board has purchased a fine site for a university building at Cairo, and is preparing to establish an American institution of learning there. This institution is to start with five colleges devoted respectively to the arts, oriental languages, pedagogy, commerce and agriculture.

Need Books for Sunday School.

"Missus, could you help us out on the Sunday School?"
A little negro girl, her arms full of small packages, stopped a passer-by on the street this morning with this plea.

"The one who gets the most money gets a prize," she explained. "It's the Methodist Sunday School," she said hesitatingly. "We're going to see the money for books and things we need."

The negro churches receive much attention from their members. The Christian Church congregation has purchased a lot for $1,100 where they will soon begin to erect a new building with money raised by individual efforts.

Several University girls teach classes in these churches and they say the attention from the children far surpasses that of white boys and girls.

Drive for Members Will Be From Nov. 11 to Nov. 25.

The annual Red Cross drive for members will begin Armistice Day, November 11, and close Thanksgiving Day, November 25. The campaign will be known as the "Fourth Red Cross Roll Call."

This is more than twenty times the pre-war membership of the society and, of course, does not take into account the 14,000,000 school children members of the Junior Red Cross.

SERVICE MEN OPEN REUNION

Veterans Parade Through Business District—Cars Carry Wounded.

CADET BAND IN MARCH

Stewart Farm Is Scene of Barbecue, Speaking and Dancing.

A detachment of infantry two three-inch rifles and their caissons, led by the University Cadet Band, swung down Broadway shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon and marked the opening of the former service men's reunion being held on the Stewart farm in the west part of the city this afternoon and evening. Former soldiers and sailors residing in all sections of the county are attending the celebration, which is under the joint direction of the local posts of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The marching veterans, many of them students in the University constituted the feature of greatest interest in the parade column. Their progress along Broadway evoked from spectators expressions of esteem in which soldiers still are held by Columbians.

The diversified forms of dress worn by the veterans testified to the widely separated branches of services from which they had been drawn. Though they marched as an infantry organization, the insignia of at least half a dozen branches were seen in the ranks. Signal corps men marched next to doughboys, and two white-capped "pals" affected a land-lubber attitude with great success.

REGULAR ARMY MEN THERE
Three three-inch pieces, the property of the artillery unit of the R.O.T.C., were drawn by two of the military department's trucks, and manned by regular army artillerymen stationed at the University.

Walter E. Bradford, a student had charge of the parade. He was mounted, and directed the parade from a position immediately in front of the band. George Venable, director of the band, led it.

A long line of automobiles carrying visitors to the scene of the celebration constituted the remainder of the parade. Here and there were cars volunteered for the transportation of wounded soldiers, and in this sight lay the power which moved the spectators as nothing else could have done. Hats came off to the heroes all along the street, and the only faces truly cheerful as they passed were those of the wounded men themselves.

The parade proceeded to the celebration grounds, where it disbanded.

WATCHING WEATHER REPORTS

Farmers Afraid Frost Will Injure Corn Before It Ripens.

Boone County farmers are watching the weather reports with more than usual interest, especially those who have hopes for a big corn crop. A late spring and a cool dry summer has made the corn unusually late, and the recent rains have put off the time of maturing even further. According to E. A. Logan, of the U. S. Bureau of Farm Estimates, it will take from thirty to forty days for the corn around Columbia to ripen. The normal time for frost, he says, is during the first or second week of October, and if it should come at this time or earlier there is grave danger to the crop as a whole.

ST. MIHIEL DRIVE STARTED TWO YEARS AGO TONIGHT

Two years ago tonight, through a heavy downpour of rain, the First-American Army took up its final position for the St. Mihiel drive. Shortly after midnight the artillery prepared for action and at 1 o'clock went into action. The bombardment continued for four hours. At 5 o'clock on the morning of September 12, 1918, the infantry began its advance. The first major operation planned and to be executed by the American forces in France was under way.

The story of the action was told tonight in the following brief communique issued from general headquarters:

"After four hours bombardment our troops advanced on the south and west flank of the St. Mihiel salient. At 7:30 a. m. the forces operating on the south had reached the southern edge of the Bois Joli, the Quart de Reserve and the northern edge of the Bois de Mort Mar. By noon they had reached Essey and Vieville and the army operating in the difficult ground in the west had captured Les Eparges. At 6 p. m. the troops had reached a point 1 kilometer east of Seney and had taken St. Remy and Combray. During the night the troops on the western flank of the salient had advanced five miles, in five hours, reaching Vignoulles by 3 o'clock a. m."

The following divisions made up the First Army which made the drive at St. Mihiel: 1st, 5th, 26th, 42nd, 82nd, 89th (Missouri) and Kansas national army divisions and the 90th. The 2nd French Colonial Corps took part in the drive.

The St. Mihiel sector was established by the Crown Prince of Bavaria on September 12, 1914—just 4 years before it was wiped out by the First American Army operating under the command of General Hunter Liggett. More than 14,000 German prisoners were captured.

SPECIAL DELIVERIES INCREASE
More Than 2000 Received Since September 1, Says L. J. Hall.

"There has been a noticeable increase in the number of special delivery letters and packages within the past week on account of the opening of the University," L. J. Hall, postmaster, said today. "The number of packages has especially increased," he said. Before tomorrow evening there will have been received at this office more than 2,000 special packages since September 1. Wagon loads of laundry containers come daily from the University Co-op and ordinary parcel post packages are increasing. The country post office officials are not careful to have packages securely wrapped and many of them show plainly what is within. Much better comes as well as packages as grapes. In this morning's mail there was a large ham and a box of green beans. The marked increase in this kind of mail is emphasizing the need of a new post office," Mr. Hall said. "Twenty men have to work in a space which should be allotted to ten."
